STUCK FOR IDEAS? DON'T WORRY

Think about your group, what they enjoy and the skills and resources you have available. We've pulled together a selection of ideas below to get your minds working. Don't be afraid to ask the children what they would like to do.

Shine for ShelterBox

Estimate £200 - £300

Every winter, ShelterBox invites people to come together to share food and fun. Whether you hold a fundraising dinner at your normal meeting place or a picnic in the woods, you'll be changing lives with every bite. Find out more at shelterbox.org/shine

Scavenger hunt

Estimate £1,000 - £3,000

ShelterBox scavenger hunts help participants to explore their local area and landmarks through a series of challenges. You can join one of the organised events, or start your own. Find out more at: shelterbox.org/scout-savenger-hunts

Disco

Estimate £150 - £300

Take over a community hall, ask around to see if parents or scout leaders can help with music, games and nibbles. Charge for tickets and get donations for refreshments.

Cake sale

Estimate £50 - £100

Everyone loves a sweet treat. Ask budding bakers to bake cakes and biscuits and sell them when the parents arrive at the end of your normal session, or arrange an extra session and host an afternoon tea.

Camp Out

Estimate £200 - £600

If you're feeling brave, challenge the kids to make their own shelters for ShelterBox and stay the night in them. Get everyone to bring food and drink and organise games, stories or even a quiz before bedtime. Charge a set amount per participant or ask for sponsorship.

Read-a-thon

Estimate £75 - £150

Encourage family and friends to sponsor kids for each page they read in an allotted time. This event raises money and encourages reading – win, win!

Martha made wooden bracelets and key-rings and sold them outside her house raising £4.00

Each year in Liverpool 90 teams of Scouts race around the city taking on challenges, fundraising as they go!

Bingham ran out of space to store his favourite books, so he decided to create a blog called 'Bingbong Books' - proceeds go to ShelterBox!
